RESTAURANT SET-UP & OPERATIONS

KITCHEN & FACILITIES CONSULTANT

My work sits at a rare crossroads: civil engineering and restaurant operations. With 15 years in civil engineering and infrastructure, and more than a decade in the restaurant field, I see kitchens through both lenses.

Engineering trained me to think in terms of structure and flow - how space should be planned, how materials need to perform in restau-rant operations and how compliance works best when it is built in from day one rather than added later.

Experienced in running kitchens in various Cuisine and advisory any kind of cusion - taught me how those systems behave once the heat rises and orders start piling up.

Because I have stood on both sides, I do not design kitchens simply to look right on paper. I design them to perform under real pressure and real volume, day after day.
